The Jew in History.
Long before Socrates taught philosophy, or before Herodotus wrote history, Israel had an organized civilization. Disraeli Long on Ancestors.

COUGH WEATHER

When the weather is cold and stormy, most of us are more or less subject to the attacks of cough and cold, and the danger of more serious trouble is to follow.

People who practice deep breathing and who use ordinary care to avoid sudden changes of temperature, dampness and exposure, are less liable to take cold than those of less methodical habits. At the first sign of a cold, steps should be taken to check it. A simple, inexpensive and effective remedy is made by mixing two ounces of Glycerine, a half-ounce of Virgin Oil of Pine compound pure and eight ounces of pure Whisky. It is claimed by the Leach Chemical Co., of Cincinnati, who prepare the genuine Virgin Oil of Pine compound pure for dispensing through drug stores, that a teaspoonful of this mixture four times a day will break up a cold in twenty-four hours and cure any cough that is curable.

TESTIMONY OF WATERBURY WIDOW

Furnished the Greatest Interest Tuesday in Kritchman-Mitchell Trial—Evidence All In—Judge will Charge the Jury on Saturday Morning.

New Haven, Conn., March 22.—After five weeks and two days the taking of testimony in the trial of Sophie Kritchman and Joe Mitchell, charged with the killing of Bronislaw Kulinski, was finished at 5:55 this afternoon, and now all that is left before the case goes to the jury is the giving of the arguments by counsel and the judge's charge.

Arguments Begin at 10 This Morning.
The state rested its case at 3:55, and when an hour later the Kritchman and Mitchell defense announced that their testimony was all in, Judge Williams called counsel for the state and defense, and on finding that they would each require the time allowed to them for arguments, a consultation was held in the judge's room, after which Judge Williams announced that arguments would begin at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, that there would be no bottle of whiskey for the day, and that he would deliver his charge to the jury on Saturday morning. The arguments will take up ten hours, five hours for the state and five for the defense, and the state and defense will each have two and a half hours for each defendant. They will occupy all of Wednesday and a portion of Thursday.

Widow Bowers' Testimony a Feature.
Today's sessions dragged along slowly, the examination of the witnesses with one exception being of the nature of the purpose of filling in the gaps left by the direct evidence. The greatest interest of the day centered in the testimony of Mrs. Annie Bowers, the Waterbury widow, who Mitchell in his direct testimony said asked him to get a bottle of whiskey for her, and on whom he said he called Friday night, the 17th, for an hour or more. Mrs. Bowers, who has been absent from Waterbury since the opening of the trial, returned to her home Saturday, and today was her first appearance in court. Her testimony stated that she was a widow with two daughters and a son, and that on September 17th she lived on Bank street. On the morning of the 17th she said she saw Mitchell pass by the house as she was sweeping down the front stairs, and that all she said to him was good morning, and that he said he was going for something to eat, but she did not ask him to get her any whiskey, and that she had never asked him to do any such thing for her. She did not see him again that day, but she saw him the next morning, when he came hurriedly upstairs and knocked on her door. At that time she was sitting in the parlor and her youngest daughter was lying on the couch near her. As Mitchell came in she asked him if he didn't think that it was pretty late for him to call on her, and he said he would stay but a few minutes. While in the room she said Mitchell said he wasn't feeling well and took a bottle out of his pocket and took a drink of what he said was medicine or bitter. At the time Mitchell was in the house, Mrs. Bowers said she was waiting for her daughter, who worked in a local drug store, to return home. This daughter, Lulu, came in about 11:15 and went into the kitchen for something to eat, and while she was there Mitchell went home. When he left, Mitchell said he was going home because he would have a hard day's work the next day. While in the house, Mrs. Bowers said he looked ill and nervous.

Corroborated by Daughter.
Lulu, Mrs. Bowers' daughter, followed her mother on the stand and corroborated the testimony she had given as to the time of her coming home and the finding of Mitchell there and the time he left. The cross-examination of these witnesses was very brief. This was the last witness called by the state, after which they rested their case.

In Rebuttal.
Mr. Kennedy in rebuttal called Mrs. Ernest Hubert, Sophie's married sister, Nellie Antonaitis, and Mrs. Agnes Kritchman, who testified that butter and eggs were delivered at the Kritchman home by Mrs. Annie Bowers, the Waterbury widow. The man who delivered the butter and eggs testified yesterday that a bottle of whiskey was delivered to the Kritchman home.

John E. Bassett of New Haven, the gun expert, identified several pieces of white cotton cloth as having been fired at with a revolver and on which powder marks were noticeable. The shots were fired at distances ranging from two to nine feet. Mrs. Mitchell said she saw Mitchell on the morning of the 17th she said she saw Mitchell pass by the house as she was sweeping down the front stairs, and that all she said to him was good morning, and that he said he was going for something to eat, but she did not ask him to get her any whiskey, and that she had never asked him to do any such thing for her. She did not see him again that day, but she saw him the next morning, when he came hurriedly upstairs and knocked on her door. At that time she was sitting in the parlor and her youngest daughter was lying on the couch near her. As Mitchell came in she asked him if he didn't think that it was pretty late for him to call on her, and he said he would stay but a few minutes. While in the room she said Mitchell said he wasn't feeling well and took a bottle out of his pocket and took a drink of what he said was medicine or bitter. At the time Mitchell was in the house, Mrs. Bowers said she was waiting for her daughter, who worked in a local drug store, to return home. This daughter, Lulu, came in about 11:15 and went into the kitchen for something to eat, and while she was there Mitchell went home. When he left, Mitchell said he was going home because he would have a hard day's work the next day. While in the house, Mrs. Bowers said he looked ill and nervous.

MONSTER PYTHON WORRIES CAPTAIN AND CREW.

Twenty Foot Snake Escaping from Box Had Run of Ship.

Boston, March 22.—When the big British freighter Indrani came into port today from the far east, one section of the vessel was in control of a monster python, which for four days had defied all efforts to capture it, and had given the officers and crew the time of their lives.

The python, which is over thirty feet long, was taken on board at Singapore. They had been stuffed with food before leaving Singapore, and during the long passage they appeared to be torpid.

Four days ago the largest of the pythons suddenly became very active. It worked the cover of its box and stretched itself full length on the deck. In an attempt to capture the reptile the sailors pushed a plank into its mouth. The python lashed about with its head, injuring several of the men. When all efforts to get the monster back in his cage had failed, the sailors boarded up the apartments where the python lay and the snakehead was still in charge of his share of the deck when the Indrani arrived here. The steamer's officers are looking for a snake charmer.

Alleged Murderers Indicted at Providence.

Providence, R. I., March 22.—Two alleged murderers were indicted by the grand jury today. William Trent, alias Otto Krebs, must answer to a charge of having murdered William Meagher at Pawtucket on February 31st last, as well as to two counts charging robbery. Ernest W. Lorenz was indicted for the murder of Gilbert Mann early in the winter and on three counts charging robbery and one for assault with intent to rob. Both men were arrested some time ago and held without bail, following numerous acts of violence in this state.

The steady nerves of the influential, successful, well-liked individual, are the envy of the timid, cold-skinned person who lacks initiative—and red blood.

A nervous person is always at a disadvantage.

Coffee is a common cause of "cold hands and feet," nervous trepidity, etc.

What a delightful change it is to feel the power of warm blood and strong nerves! Stop drinking coffee for a week or ten days, and use Postum as the table beverage.

Make your Postum strong and rich—boil it 15 minutes or longer—serve piping hot with good cream, and it is delicious and wholesome, too.

Postum contains no coffee or other drugs (caffeine) but only the food elements of clean, roasted wheat and a small amount of molasses.

MORE FORMER MEMBERS CONFESS TO THEIR GUILT.

Tuesday's Developments in the Pittsburgh Aldermanic Bribery Scandal—Honor Sold for $10 Up.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 22.—Nine more former members of councils appeared before the district attorney today and confessed to their guilt in accepting money for their votes while members of the municipal bodies, and were then rushed before Judge R. S. Frazer, where they received their immunity bath in the form of a fine.

When the grand jury adjourned for the day no indictments had been returned, although the jury had listened for hours on developments in the bribery scandal even more sensational than developed yesterday. Men admitted selling their honor from $10 up. John F. Klein was before the grand jury the greater part of the day, and continued his narrative of councilmanic graft. Klein recounted some of his experiences in handing out the money to the councilmen. There was one fellow, he said, "who was a daisy—a regular Shylock for the dough. In the South Seventh street business I handed him $21. He looked at me for a few minutes, and then yelled like a stuck pig for the extra ten cents. You there was the standard fee in that deal. Well, he got the ten cents all right."

All but nine men who confessed to the district attorney today will appear before the grand jury to tell their stories. District Attorney Elmer Egan, as soon as the councilmen and bribe-takers have been rounded up, go after the bribe givers. These are said to be in the majority. The grand jury names have never heretofore been breathed in connection with the graft scandal, having never before been passed to these bank men that they may come in under the "immunity" extended by the district attorney, but as they have thus far failed to avail themselves of the opportunity it is reported that some bombastic charges may be made against the construction of Pittsburgh when county elections "turn the money changers" fully on their own temples and bring them before the bar of justice. With all that has thus far been disclosed in the significant municipal graft conspiracy, but as they have thus far failed to scratch the surface. What one hour may develop no one is able to foresee. Even the district attorney is frank in his expression that he "can't tell" what will happen.

Twenty have thus far confessed, 37 have been indicted, but have not yet confessed, and 16 have been indicted, but have not yet confessed. It is said at the district attorney's office that before the grand jury is dismissed the day Chief of Police Egan will be indicted. These will include not only some of the present and former members of the councilmanic bodies, but the men who supplied the money to do the bribing.

MASSACHUSETTS ELECTS A DEMOCRAT TO CONGRESS.

Eugene Foss Accomplishes What is Regarded Almost a Political Miracle—Overwhelming Defeat for Republicans.

Brockton, Mass., March 22.—The national political weathercock turned democratward in Massachusetts today when the Old Colony section, one of the strongest of the republican stronghold of the state, placed Eugene N. Foss of Boston, one of the country's leading exponents of reciprocity with Canada, in the congressional seat of the late William C. Lovering of Taunton. Mr. Foss accomplished what was regarded as almost a political miracle, turning a republican plurality of 14,250 into a democratic victory of 5,640.

The vote today was: Eugene N. Foss of Boston (democrat), 14,850; William R. Buchanan of Brockton (republican), 9,240.

It was the most overwhelming defeat that the republicans have met in Massachusetts since Governor Bates was overthrown by William L. Douglas, six years ago, when the latter was under the political guidance of the same Mr. Buchanan who met defeat today.

The result is considered of more than state-wide importance, for Mr. Foss was elected in the Fourth district, the granite hills of Mansfield to the sands of Provincetown on national questions, and the people backed him up with a whoop.

Where the two cities and every one of the forty-four towns in the district, three republican majorities only four months ago, at the state election, a scant dozen remained loyal to the republicans today.

The Fourteenth district has been the most consistently republican district in Massachusetts, having never before elected a democrat to congress. Congressman Lovering carried the district in 1908 by the enormous plurality of 14,250. It was at the time that Congressman Lovering's death last winter that a man canvassing under democratic colors would have no hope whatever.

Care Of The Broom

Some people seem to think that a broom can take care of itself, but a little intelligent care will make quite a noticeable difference in the work the broom will do and the length of time it will wear. A broom that is used every day should be washed once a week and then dipped in a bucket of soda made by dissolving a tablespoonful of Gold Dust washing powder in a quart of water. Dip the broom up and down in these soda until the straw is cleaned and bright; then rinse and lay up to dry. If a new broom is dipped in hot soda before used, the straw will be toughened and will not break so easily. Do not set the broom down in a corner after it is used, but hang it up.

Chicago, March 22.—"Love is a wonderful thing and comes only once in a person's life. I lived on it. I had to, because I had disposed of my silk stockings and milk fur, almost everything else, to buy food. But I put my trust in a man whose beauty was of the manufactured variety, and God is punishing me."

This was the statement today of Mrs. Louise Carver, wife of Charles A. Carver, Yale so graduate and "astron man," who was arraigned in police court today on charge of wife abandonment. Carver arrived from New York on the same train that brought his wife. When asked to explain what she meant by "manufactured beauty," the wife resumed:

"Well, they say Charlie is handsome. But he is one of those manufactured beauties like the peroxide blonde you observe on the street. He uses face cream, hair lotions and other lotions, and thinks to improve his charms. He wrote a Chicago manufacturer a fifty-word telegram when ordering a new supply of the beautifiers, and the women was so tickled that she told her customers that Charlie was crazy about her and the story reached me."
